

BOBO and the FUSS

Written by Ammon Brown

Illustrated by
Tran Dang

Bobo is a happy dog who lives in a beautiful home with his two humans. They love him very much, and Bobo loves them very much, too. They are all very happy together.

Bobo plays fetch with his humans all day long. They give him lots of hugs and lots of treats and it makes Bobo very happy.

One day, Bobo's humans came home with something very strange.
It was a new tiny human and it was crying loudly.
Bobo knew what it was...

It was a FUSS!

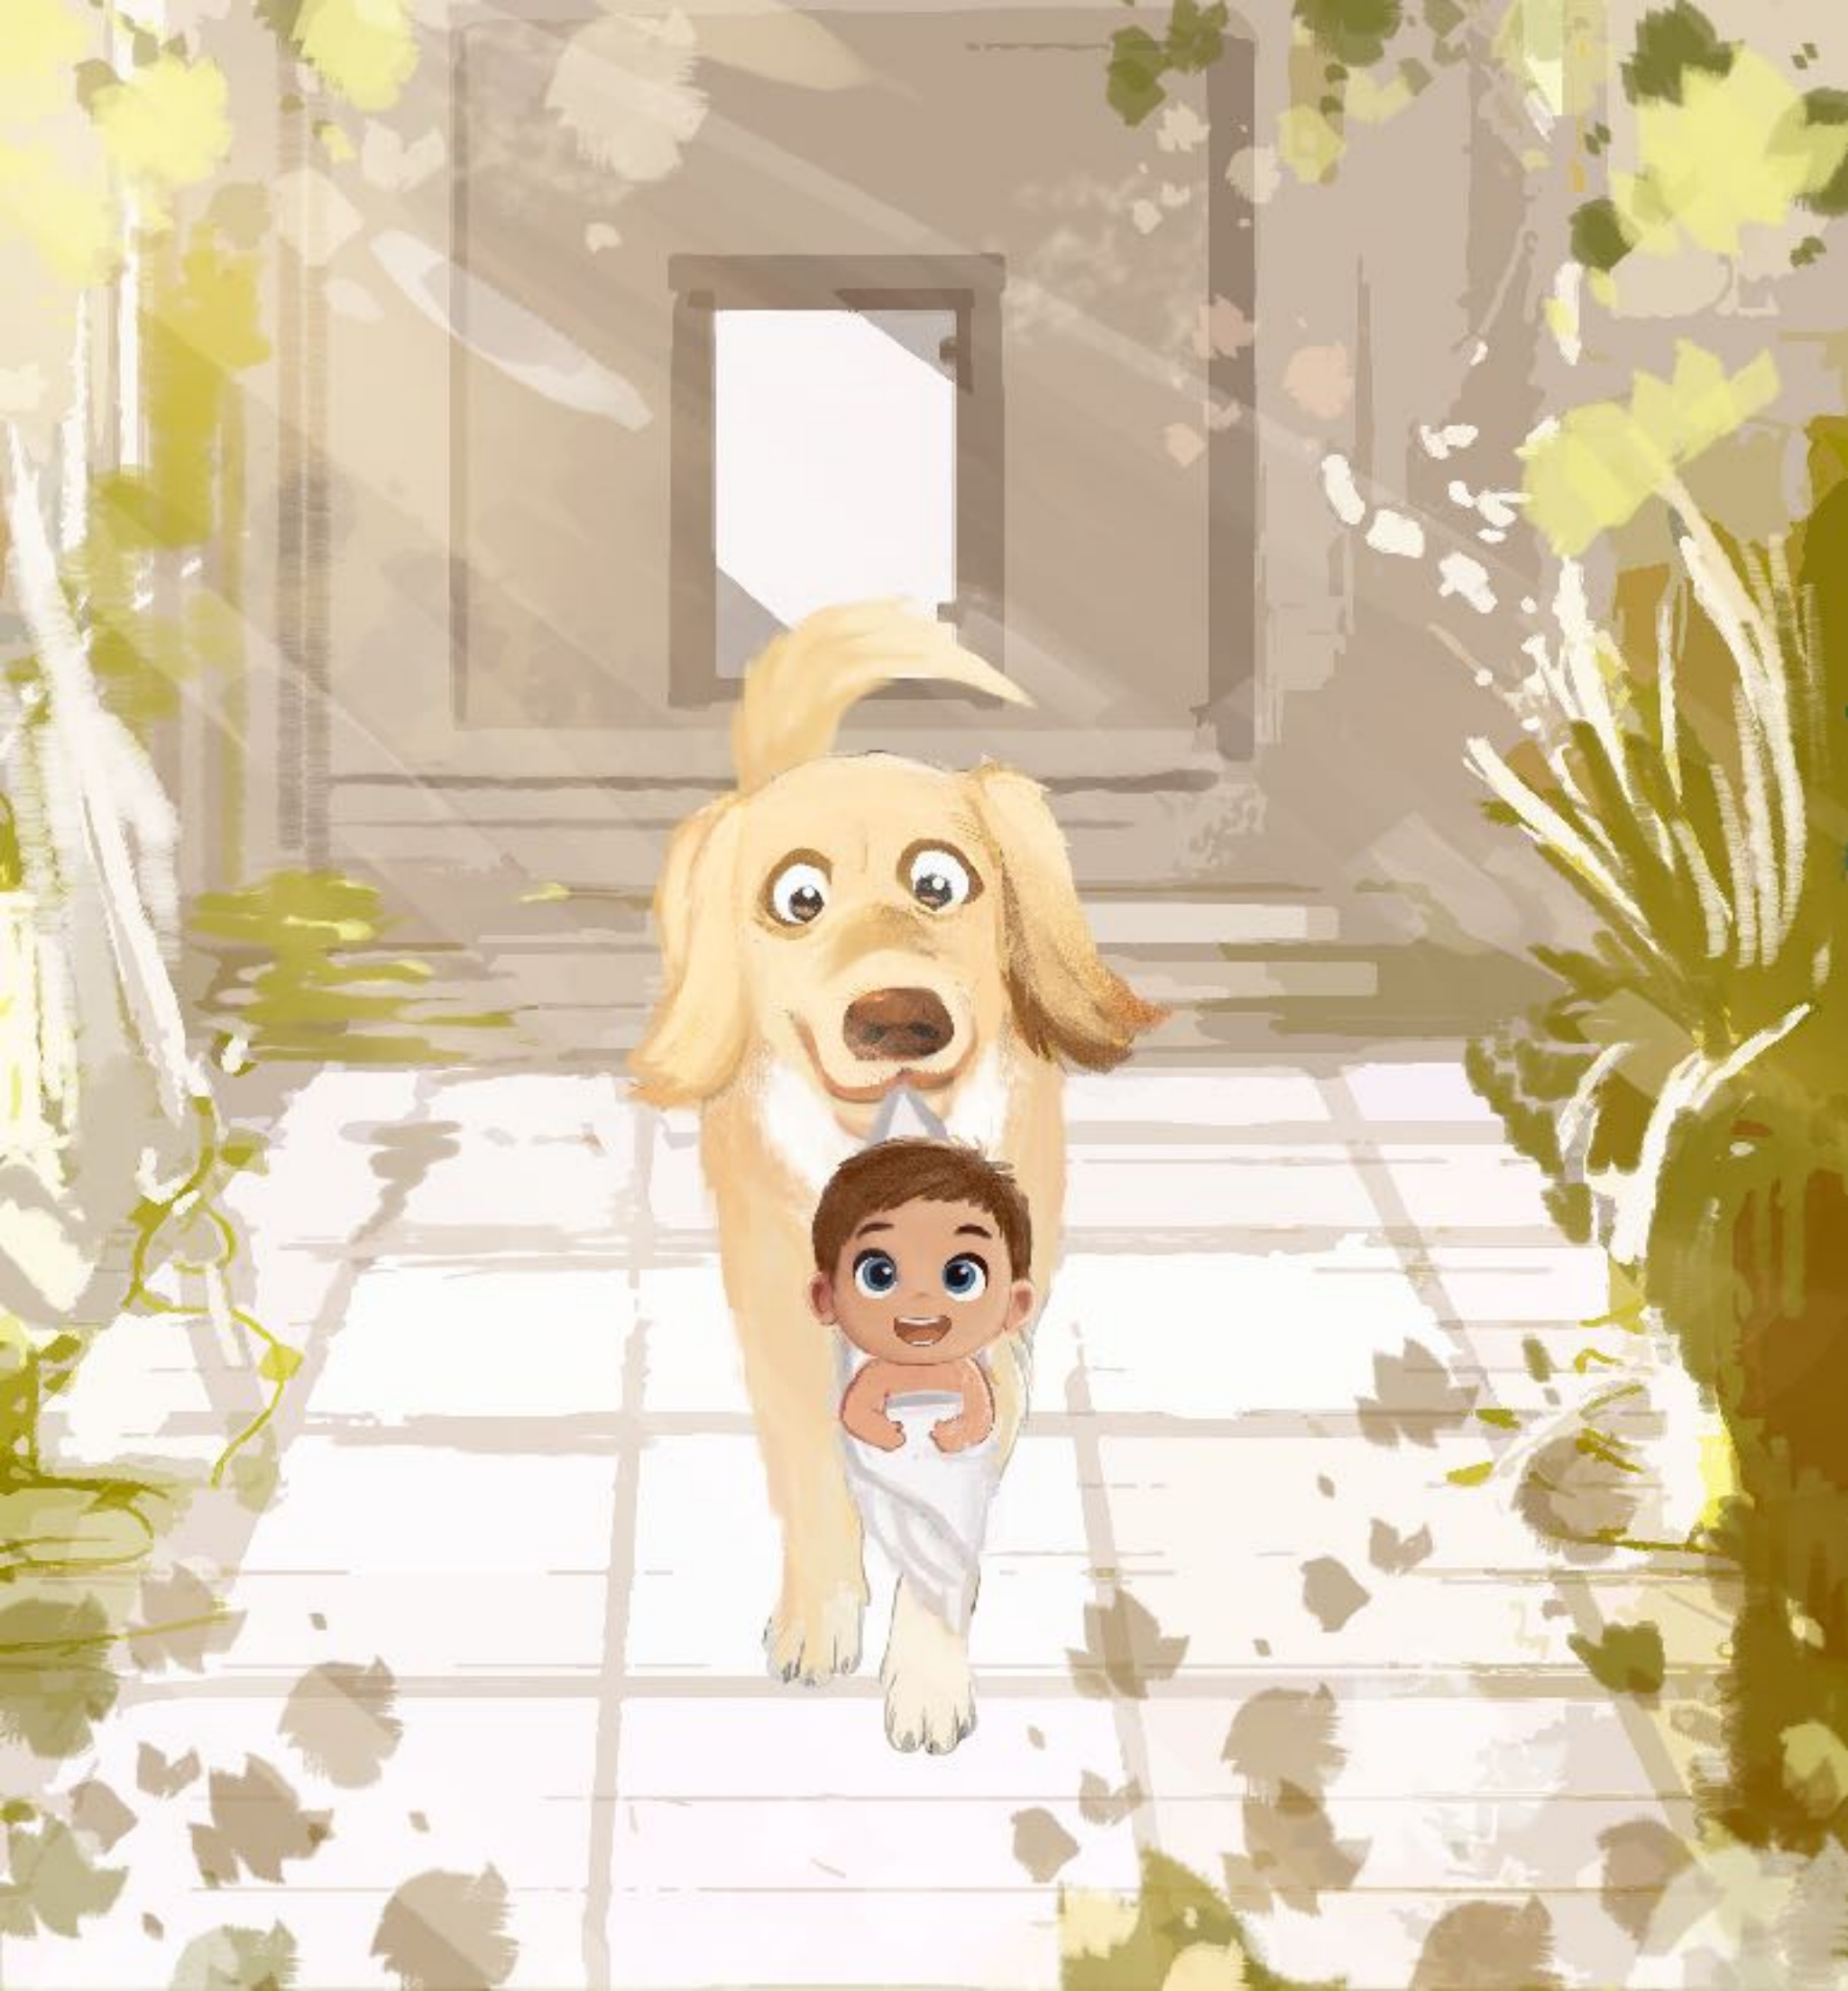

Now that the Fuss was in the house, Bobo did not get as many hugs as before.

He did not get as many treats as before.

And it was all because of the Fuss.

Bobo wanted everything to be just like it was before the Fuss came to his house. Bobo had to get rid of the Fuss to have his humans all to himself again.

Bobo would find new humans for the Fuss, humans that were not Bobo's!
So Bobo picked up the Fuss when his humans weren't looking and dashed through his doggy door.

“WHEEEEE!” giggled the Fuss.

Bobo took the Fuss to the pet store. They sell lots of pets to humans, maybe they could sell the Fuss, too. But the human at the pet store said,

“This is a pet store. We do NOT take BABIES!”

“HEEHHEE!” laughed the Fuss.

Next, Bobo took the Fuss to the car store. They put humans in cars and wave goodbye, maybe they could send the Fuss away in a car! But the human at the car store said,

“This is a car dealership. We do NOT take BABIES!”

“OOOOHOOO!” cooed the Fuss.

Bobo took the Fuss to a construction site. The builders were making new houses, maybe the Fuss could live in one of them! But the human at the construction site said,

“This is a construction site. We do NOT take BABIES.”

“AAHAA!” chuckled the Fuss.

Finally, Bobo took the Fuss to a church. Bobo heard that they accept everyone there, maybe they will accept the Fuss, too! The human at the church said,
“Oh my, a baby! Thank you for bringing this baby, I shall take him to our orphanage!”

“Nuhh...?” said the Fuss

The Fuss was going to live at the church! Now Bobo would have his humans all to himself.

But Bobo felt strangely sad. He did not know why.

Then the Fuss gave Bobo a big hug and whispered to him.

“Goodbye, Bobo. You are my best friend.”

“I love you.”

Suddenly Bobo felt very happy. The Fuss was not trying to take his humans.

The Fuss was one of Bobo's humans!

Bobo picked up the Fuss and ran towards home.

When Bobo got home to his humans, they were very happy to see him and the Fuss.

They gave Bobo and the Fuss lots of hugs and lots of treats and told Bobo he was a good boy.

Now Bobo has three humans to play with. Now he gets more hugs than ever before and he gets more treats than ever before.

Bobo also has a new best friend.

And Bobo loves his Fuss.